

The Future of Health & Safety Conference

WELLBEING | TECHNOLOGY | INNOVATION

25 July 2024, Christchurch Town Hall

The Future of Health and Safety.

Following the success of the Safety Charter's 2023 Mentally Safe Work Conference, we are pleased to announce details of the 2024 conference.

This conference will focus on wellbeing, technology, and Innovation. Each of these aspects will be central to new ways of thinking and overcoming the challenges of the industry.

There have been many significant changes in the health and safety landscape over the last year. A new CEO at WorkSafe, valuable case law determinations in health and safety following the Whakaari/White Island prosecutions and continued focus on the role that mental wellbeing and psycho-social factors play in employee health and safety. There is also an ever-increasing role for technology to improve how risks are communicated and managed.

The theme for this year's conference is 'The Future of Health and Safety', and we have an exciting array of speakers who will share their vision for the future.

Keynote presentations include;

1. Sir John Kirwan sharing insights and practical solutions on how to manage mental health.
2. Garth Gallaway on Whakaari/White Island - the decisions and the implications for the future.
3. Dr Kathryn Davis on Cultural Shifts: Enhancing Health and Safety through Technology.
4. New CEO of WorkSafe NZ on the future direction and focus.

5. Jen Dransfield, Naylor Love sharing her experiences on how the health and safety person can use BIM to their advantage.
6. Jonathon Dutton, Performance on Harnessing BIM Powered Robotics to Enhance Safety in Construction.
7. BIMSafe NZ sharing the case study of the ACC / Otepoti Building, Dunedin.

Invitations have been extended to the Minister for Mental Health and ACC (Hon. Matt Doocey), and the Minister for Workplace Relations and Safety (Hon. Brooke van Velden).

This is shaping to be a very significant event for the industry and will appeal to a wide variety of demographics.

As a sponsor you have a unique opportunity to get your brand alongside other leading organisations in this field.

This is your chance to contribute to a greater understanding of how the industry can adapt and grow to improve the health and safety of all workplace employees.

We anticipate that the conference will sell out very quickly, so please take advantage of this opportunity to demonstrate your support and commitment to improving the lives of others.

The Canterbury Safety Charter Journey so far

Between September 2010 and the end of 2011, 4 major earthquakes and more than 11,200 aftershocks shook Christchurch and the surrounding towns. This earthquake sequence caused the deaths of 185 people. The total economic losses were estimated to be more than $38 billion. Over the last decade Christchurch has been rebuilt, thousands of uninhabitable houses demolished and replaced, and infrastructure restored.

The Canterbury Safety Charter was established to ensure anyone who worked on the demolition and rebuild went home safe and healthy every night. Modelling post-earthquakes suggested that with the scope of the projected works, several workers lives would be lost, there would be $80 million of ACC claims, and 600,00 working days lost to illness and/or injury. The Safety Charter was a collective initiative between industry, MBIE, WorkSafe NZ, NZCTU, and ACC to address these concerns.

The Safety Charter agreement involved more than 370 organisations and helped both Canterbury and national construction companies to raise their standards of health and safety. The Safety Charter is industry and worker led, with organisations large and small committing to making tangible improvements to New Zealand's construction safety record. The result was during the demolition and rebuild was no workers lost their lives, a remarkable achievement.

The Safety Charter continues to provide a forum for all stakeholders in construction and aligned industries. In more recent times, the Safety Charter has championed both wellbeing and technology as key directions for the future. The Safety Charter focusses on improving connection, communication, and capability, and has raised the expectations of what can be achieved individually and collectively to improve health and safety outcomes on the workplace.
